

Advisory

It has been noticed that a number of professionals who have not paid their annual membership fees for IRSE are still using the respective grades of IRSE Membership and are highlighting themselves as members of IRSE.

The individuals who have not paid their annual membership fees are not entitled to use the grades of IRSE Membership or declare themselves as members of IRSE. Indulging in such practices is unethical and is also prohibitive to the Bylaws of IRSE.

Such individuals who are using the respective grades of IRSE Membership and also highlighting themselves as members of IRSE without having paid the due membership fees are advised to immediately remove such affiliations from all forms of communications and different public forums.
